

Congress of the United States
Washington, DC 20515

1

809

May 24, 2010

The Honorable Julius Genachowski
Chairman
Federal Communications Commission
445 12th Street, SW
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear Chairman Genachowski:

We are writing to reinforce the strong bipartisan consensus among policymakers, industry participants, and analysts that the success of the broadband marketplace stems from policies that encourage competition, private investment, and legal certainty. The regulatory framework first adopted in 1998 by the Clinton Administration's FCC has resulted in broadband industry infrastructure investment of approximately $60 billion per year. In the last decade, multiple providers and the hundreds of thousands of workers they employ have brought high speed connections to 95 percent of U.S. households where two-thirds of Americans now access the Internet through broadband at home.

Still, much work remains to be done. According to the National Broadband Plan, 14 million Americans lack broadband access altogether, many underserved areas need more robust broadband facilities, and both wired and wireless broadband services require increasing speeds. As the Plan notes, that work will require as much as $350 billion in additional private investment. Generating those enormous sums from industry, and the good-paying jobs they produce, will require a continued commitment to the stable regulatory environment that has existed for the last dozen years.

Because of this, we have serious concerns about the proposed new regulatory framework for broadband and the Internet. The expanded FCC jurisdiction over broadband that has been proposed and the manner in which it would be implemented are unprecedented and create regulatory uncertainty. The controversy surrounding that approach will likely serve as a distraction from what should be our Nation's foremost communications priority: bringing broadband to every corner of America, getting every American online, and providing the high speed connections needed to realize the promises of telemedicine, distance learning, and other forms of consumer empowerment.

The continued deployment and adoption of broadband, the growing importance of the Internet to our constituents, and the significant contributions this will make to our economy should be the FCC's primary focus right now. The uncertainty this proposal creates will jeopardize jobs and deter needed investment for years to come. The significant regulatory impact of reclassifying broadband service is not something that should be taken lightly and should not be done without additional direction from Congress. We urge you not to move forward with a proposal that undermines critically important investment in broadband and the jobs that come with it.

Thank you for your attention to this letter, and we look forward to working with you in a constructive way to address these matters.

Sincerely,

Sam Rimm

Scott Murphy

Suzanne M. Kanner

Tommy Stone

Patricia E. R. R.

Charles A. Zary

Allyn Y. Schwartz

Mike Rye

John Rimmer

Gene Taylor

Nicholas R. Lin

Chris W. Hill

Baron P. Hill

W. H. A.

Harry Cullen

Jason Altman

Carlson

Rob Abney

Tracy J
Kathy Salinger

Annika Jones

Chloe P. Carg

Yvette D. Clarke
Lois J. Jandke

Allen Bayl

Ann J. J. J.
Bobby Bright

Guss Camahan

Dan Poff

John
The 1st
G.K. Butterfield Jr.

Herb
Reichs

Doc Peterson
W. Carg

John Allen
Jim W.

Terris W. Childers
Walt W. Pitt

Amiel Talverson

Kurt Schaefer

Frank E. Boney

John P. Galt

Walt Allen

Harry Teague

A. K. Kipoly

Morris L. Dodge

Bruce Bickel

Devin Mee

G. Giffards

Joe Brown

Elyse E. Cummings

E. Brown

Gregory L. Minto

Alfred L. Hastings

Carl D. Rodney

Charles Fawcett

Phil Kahall

Joseph W. W. W.

Rubin Ferguson

W. J. Foster

C. A. Dutch Rappenberg

W. H. R. W.

Bennie A. Thompson

Wm. Lacy Clay

Al. [unclear]

Eddie Benjamin

Bill O'Leary

Amos D. B. [unclear]

T. H. [unclear]

Al. [unclear]

Al. [unclear]

Carine Brown

Rep. Gregory Meeks
Rep. Loretta Sanchez
Rep. Michael McMahon
Rep. Eddie Bernice Johnson
Rep. Alcee Hastings
Rep. Tim Holden
Rep. Joe Baca
Rep. William Lacy Clay
Rep. Charles Gonzalez
Rep. Bennie Thompson
Rep. Yvette Clarke
Rep. G.K. Butterfield
Rep. Albio Sires
Rep. Leonard Boswell
Rep. John Adler
Rep. Heath Shuler
Rep. Bobby Rush
Rep. Allen Boyd
Rep. Lincoln Davis
Rep. John Barrow
Rep. Dan Boren
Rep. Solomon Ortiz
Rep. Bill Owens
Rep. Henry Cuellar
Rep. Michael Arcuri
Rep. Charlie Wilson
Rep. Kathy Dahlkemper
Rep. Charlie Melancon
Rep. Walt Minnick
Rep. David Scott
Rep. Ed Pastor
Rep. Mike Ross
Rep. Travis Childers
Rep. Marcia Fudge
Rep. Joe Crowley
Rep. Robert Brady
Rep. Bobby Bright
Rep. Nick Rahall
Rep. Jason Altmire
Rep. Dan Maffei
Rep. Allyson Schwartz
Rep. Glenn Nye
Rep. Ed Towns
Rep. Debbie Halvorson
Rep. Scott Murphy

Rep. Suzanne Kosmas
Rep. Ciro Rodriguez
Rep. Frank Kratovil
Rep. Baron Hill
Rep. Russ Carnahan
Rep. Kurt Schrader
Rep. Ruben Hinojosa
Rep. Al Green
Rep. Zach Space
Rep. Laura Richardson
Rep. Steve Driehaus
Rep. Gary Peters
Rep. Dutch Ruppersberger
Rep. Christopher Carney
Rep. Dennis Cardoza
Rep. Chaka Fattah
Rep. Tim Bishop
Rep. Sanford Bishop
Rep. John Tanner
Rep. Jim Costa
Rep. Ann Kirkpatrick
Rep. Gabrielle Giffords
Rep. Gene Taylor
Rep. Dennis Moore
Rep. Elijah Cummings
Rep. Rick Larsen
Rep. Harry Teague
Rep. Corrine Brown

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

December 15, 2010

The Honorable Timothy H. Bishop
U.S. House of Representatives
306 Cannon House Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Congressman Bishop:

Earlier this year, you expressed "serious concerns" about the impact that reclassifying broadband as a Title II telecommunications service might have on private investment and jobs. I very much appreciate hearing your views on this issue and I strongly share your commitment to bringing better broadband to all Americans. As you may have seen earlier this month, I circulated a proposal for high-level rules of the road to preserve the open Internet that has served so well as a platform for economic growth, innovation, and free expression. That proposal is designed to foster precisely the kind of continued private investment you emphasized and it does not call for the reclassification of broadband. Instead, the proposal relies on the existing legal framework that you commended in your letter.

I look forward to a continuing dialogue about how best to improve our 21st Century communications networks.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read "J. Genachowski", is written over the printed name. The signature is stylized with a large, sweeping initial "J" and a long horizontal stroke.

Julius Genachowski

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

December 15, 2010

The Honorable Sanford D. Bishop, Jr.
U.S. House of Representatives
2429 Rayburn House Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Congressman Bishop, Jr.:

Earlier this year, you expressed "serious concerns" about the impact that reclassifying broadband as a Title II telecommunications service might have on private investment and jobs. I very much appreciate hearing your views on this issue and I strongly share your commitment to bringing better broadband to all Americans. As you may have seen earlier this month, I circulated a proposal for high-level rules of the road to preserve the open Internet that has served so well as a platform for economic growth, innovation, and free expression. That proposal is designed to foster precisely the kind of continued private investment you emphasized and it does not call for the reclassification of broadband. Instead, the proposal relies on the existing legal framework that you commended in your letter.

I look forward to a continuing dialogue about how best to improve our 21st Century communications networks.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read "J. Genachowski", is written over the typed name.

Julius Genachowski

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

December 15, 2010

The Honorable Dan Boren
U.S. House of Representatives
216 Cannon House Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Congressman Boren:

Earlier this year, you expressed "serious concerns" about the impact that reclassifying broadband as a Title II telecommunications service might have on private investment and jobs. I very much appreciate hearing your views on this issue and I strongly share your commitment to bringing better broadband to all Americans. As you may have seen earlier this month, I circulated a proposal for high-level rules of the road to preserve the open Internet that has served so well as a platform for economic growth, innovation, and free expression. That proposal is designed to foster precisely the kind of continued private investment you emphasized and it does not call for the reclassification of broadband. Instead, the proposal relies on the existing legal framework that you commended in your letter.

I look forward to a continuing dialogue about how best to improve our 21st Century communications networks.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read "J. Genachowski", is written over the printed name.

Julius Genachowski

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

December 15, 2010

The Honorable Leonard Boswell
U.S. House of Representatives
1427 Longworth House Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Congressman Boswell:

Earlier this year, you expressed "serious concerns" about the impact that reclassifying broadband as a Title II telecommunications service might have on private investment and jobs. I very much appreciate hearing your views on this issue and I strongly share your commitment to bringing better broadband to all Americans. As you may have seen earlier this month, I circulated a proposal for high-level rules of the road to preserve the open Internet that has served so well as a platform for economic growth, innovation, and free expression. That proposal is designed to foster precisely the kind of continued private investment you emphasized and it does not call for the reclassification of broadband. Instead, the proposal relies on the existing legal framework that you commended in your letter.

I look forward to a continuing dialogue about how best to improve our 21st Century communications networks.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read "J. Genachowski", is written over the typed name.

Julius Genachowski

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

December 15, 2010

The Honorable F. Allen Boyd, Jr.
U.S. House of Representatives
1227 Longworth House Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Congressman Boyd:

Earlier this year, you expressed "serious concerns" about the impact that reclassifying broadband as a Title II telecommunications service might have on private investment and jobs. I very much appreciate hearing your views on this issue and I strongly share your commitment to bringing better broadband to all Americans. As you may have seen earlier this month, I circulated a proposal for high-level rules of the road to preserve the open Internet that has served so well as a platform for economic growth, innovation, and free expression. That proposal is designed to foster precisely the kind of continued private investment you emphasized and it does not call for the reclassification of broadband. Instead, the proposal relies on the existing legal framework that you commended in your letter.

I look forward to a continuing dialogue about how best to improve our 21st Century communications networks.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read "J. Genachowski", is written over the printed name. The signature is stylized with a large, sweeping initial "J" and a long horizontal stroke.

Julius Genachowski

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

December 15, 2010

The Honorable Robert A. Brady
U.S. House of Representatives
206 Cannon House Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Congressman Brady:

Earlier this year, you expressed "serious concerns" about the impact that reclassifying broadband as a Title II telecommunications service might have on private investment and jobs. I very much appreciate hearing your views on this issue and I strongly share your commitment to bringing better broadband to all Americans. As you may have seen earlier this month, I circulated a proposal for high-level rules of the road to preserve the open Internet that has served so well as a platform for economic growth, innovation, and free expression. That proposal is designed to foster precisely the kind of continued private investment you emphasized and it does not call for the reclassification of broadband. Instead, the proposal relies on the existing legal framework that you commended in your letter.

I look forward to a continuing dialogue about how best to improve our 21st Century communications networks.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read "J. Genachowski", is written over the printed name.

Julius Genachowski

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

December 15, 2010

The Honorable Bobby N. Bright
U.S. House of Representatives
1205 Longworth House Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Congressman Bright:

Earlier this year, you expressed "serious concerns" about the impact that reclassifying broadband as a Title II telecommunications service might have on private investment and jobs. I very much appreciate hearing your views on this issue and I strongly share your commitment to bringing better broadband to all Americans. As you may have seen earlier this month, I circulated a proposal for high-level rules of the road to preserve the open Internet that has served so well as a platform for economic growth, innovation, and free expression. That proposal is designed to foster precisely the kind of continued private investment you emphasized and it does not call for the reclassification of broadband. Instead, the proposal relies on the existing legal framework that you commended in your letter.

I look forward to a continuing dialogue about how best to improve our 21st Century communications networks.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read "J. Genachowski", is written over the printed name.

Julius Genachowski

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

December 15, 2010

The Honorable Corrine Brown
U.S. House of Representatives
2336 Rayburn House Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Congresswoman Brown:

Earlier this year, you expressed "serious concerns" about the impact that reclassifying broadband as a Title II telecommunications service might have on private investment and jobs. I very much appreciate hearing your views on this issue and I strongly share your commitment to bringing better broadband to all Americans. As you may have seen earlier this month, I circulated a proposal for high-level rules of the road to preserve the open Internet that has served so well as a platform for economic growth, innovation, and free expression. That proposal is designed to foster precisely the kind of continued private investment you emphasized and it does not call for the reclassification of broadband. Instead, the proposal relies on the existing legal framework that you commended in your letter.

I look forward to a continuing dialogue about how best to improve our 21st Century communications networks.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to be "J. Genachowski", is written over the printed name. The signature is stylized with a large, sweeping initial "J".

Julius Genachowski

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

December 15, 2010

The Honorable George K. Butterfield
U.S. House of Representatives
413 Cannon House Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Congressman Butterfield:

Earlier this year, you expressed "serious concerns" about the impact that reclassifying broadband as a Title II telecommunications service might have on private investment and jobs. I very much appreciate hearing your views on this issue and I strongly share your commitment to bringing better broadband to all Americans. As you may have seen earlier this month, I circulated a proposal for high-level rules of the road to preserve the open Internet that has served so well as a platform for economic growth, innovation, and free expression. That proposal is designed to foster precisely the kind of continued private investment you emphasized and it does not call for the reclassification of broadband. Instead, the proposal relies on the existing legal framework that you commended in your letter.

I look forward to a continuing dialogue about how best to improve our 21st Century communications networks.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to be "J. Genachowski", is written over the typed name. The signature is stylized with a large, sweeping initial "J" and a long horizontal stroke.

Julius Genachowski

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

December 15, 2010

The Honorable Dennis Cardoza
U.S. House of Representatives
1224 Longworth House Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Congressman Cardoza:

Earlier this year, you expressed "serious concerns" about the impact that reclassifying broadband as a Title II telecommunications service might have on private investment and jobs. I very much appreciate hearing your views on this issue and I strongly share your commitment to bringing better broadband to all Americans. As you may have seen earlier this month, I circulated a proposal for high-level rules of the road to preserve the open Internet that has served so well as a platform for economic growth, innovation, and free expression. That proposal is designed to foster precisely the kind of continued private investment you emphasized and it does not call for the reclassification of broadband. Instead, the proposal relies on the existing legal framework that you commended in your letter.

I look forward to a continuing dialogue about how best to improve our 21st Century communications networks.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to be "J. Genachowski", is written over the typed name. The signature is stylized with a large, sweeping initial "J" and a long horizontal stroke.

Julius Genachowski

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

December 15, 2010

The Honorable Russ Carnahan
U.S. House of Representatives
1710 Longworth House Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Congressman Carnahan:

Earlier this year, you expressed "serious concerns" about the impact that reclassifying broadband as a Title II telecommunications service might have on private investment and jobs. I very much appreciate hearing your views on this issue and I strongly share your commitment to bringing better broadband to all Americans. As you may have seen earlier this month, I circulated a proposal for high-level rules of the road to preserve the open Internet that has served so well as a platform for economic growth, innovation, and free expression. That proposal is designed to foster precisely the kind of continued private investment you emphasized and it does not call for the reclassification of broadband. Instead, the proposal relies on the existing legal framework that you commended in your letter.

I look forward to a continuing dialogue about how best to improve our 21st Century communications networks.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to be "J. Genachowski", is written over the printed name.

Julius Genachowski

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

December 15, 2010

The Honorable Chris Carney
U.S. House of Representatives
416 Cannon House Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Congressman Carney:

Earlier this year, you expressed "serious concerns" about the impact that reclassifying broadband as a Title II telecommunications service might have on private investment and jobs. I very much appreciate hearing your views on this issue and I strongly share your commitment to bringing better broadband to all Americans. As you may have seen earlier this month, I circulated a proposal for high-level rules of the road to preserve the open Internet that has served so well as a platform for economic growth, innovation, and free expression. That proposal is designed to foster precisely the kind of continued private investment you emphasized and it does not call for the reclassification of broadband. Instead, the proposal relies on the existing legal framework that you commended in your letter.

I look forward to a continuing dialogue about how best to improve our 21st Century communications networks.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, consisting of a stylized 'J' followed by a horizontal line and a small dot.

Julius Genachowski

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

December 15, 2010

The Honorable Travis Childers
U.S. House of Representatives
1708 Longworth House Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Congressman Childers:

Earlier this year, you expressed "serious concerns" about the impact that reclassifying broadband as a Title II telecommunications service might have on private investment and jobs. I very much appreciate hearing your views on this issue and I strongly share your commitment to bringing better broadband to all Americans. As you may have seen earlier this month, I circulated a proposal for high-level rules of the road to preserve the open Internet that has served so well as a platform for economic growth, innovation, and free expression. That proposal is designed to foster precisely the kind of continued private investment you emphasized and it does not call for the reclassification of broadband. Instead, the proposal relies on the existing legal framework that you commended in your letter.

I look forward to a continuing dialogue about how best to improve our 21st Century communications networks.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to be "J. Genachowski", is written over the typed name. The signature is stylized with a large, sweeping initial "J" and a long horizontal stroke.

Julius Genachowski

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

December 15, 2010

The Honorable Yvette D. Clarke
U.S. House of Representatives
1029 Longworth House Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Congresswoman Clarke:

Earlier this year, you expressed "serious concerns" about the impact that reclassifying broadband as a Title II telecommunications service might have on private investment and jobs. I very much appreciate hearing your views on this issue and I strongly share your commitment to bringing better broadband to all Americans. As you may have seen earlier this month, I circulated a proposal for high-level rules of the road to preserve the open Internet that has served so well as a platform for economic growth, innovation, and free expression. That proposal is designed to foster precisely the kind of continued private investment you emphasized and it does not call for the reclassification of broadband. Instead, the proposal relies on the existing legal framework that you commended in your letter.

I look forward to a continuing dialogue about how best to improve our 21st Century communications networks.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to be "J. Genachowski", is written over the printed name. The signature is stylized with a large, sweeping initial "J" and a long horizontal stroke.

Julius Genachowski

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

December 15, 2010

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

The Honorable William Lacy Clay
U.S. House of Representatives
2418 Rayburn House Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Congressman Clay:

Earlier this year, you expressed "serious concerns" about the impact that reclassifying broadband as a Title II telecommunications service might have on private investment and jobs. I very much appreciate hearing your views on this issue and I strongly share your commitment to bringing better broadband to all Americans. As you may have seen earlier this month, I circulated a proposal for high-level rules of the road to preserve the open Internet that has served so well as a platform for economic growth, innovation, and free expression. That proposal is designed to foster precisely the kind of continued private investment you emphasized and it does not call for the reclassification of broadband. Instead, the proposal relies on the existing legal framework that you commended in your letter.

I look forward to a continuing dialogue about how best to improve our 21st Century communications networks.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to be "J. Genachowski", is written over the printed name.

Julius Genachowski

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

December 15, 2010

The Honorable Jim Costa
U.S. House of Representatives
1314 Longworth House Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Congressman Costa:

Earlier this year, you expressed "serious concerns" about the impact that reclassifying broadband as a Title II telecommunications service might have on private investment and jobs. I very much appreciate hearing your views on this issue and I strongly share your commitment to bringing better broadband to all Americans. As you may have seen earlier this month, I circulated a proposal for high-level rules of the road to preserve the open Internet that has served so well as a platform for economic growth, innovation, and free expression. That proposal is designed to foster precisely the kind of continued private investment you emphasized and it does not call for the reclassification of broadband. Instead, the proposal relies on the existing legal framework that you commended in your letter.

I look forward to a continuing dialogue about how best to improve our 21st Century communications networks.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to be "J. Genachowski", is written over the printed name. The signature is stylized with a large, sweeping initial "J" and a long horizontal stroke.

Julius Genachowski

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

December 15, 2010

The Honorable Joseph Crowley
U.S. House of Representatives
2404 Rayburn House Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Congressman Crowley:

Earlier this year, you expressed "serious concerns" about the impact that reclassifying broadband as a Title II telecommunications service might have on private investment and jobs. I very much appreciate hearing your views on this issue and I strongly share your commitment to bringing better broadband to all Americans. As you may have seen earlier this month, I circulated a proposal for high-level rules of the road to preserve the open Internet that has served so well as a platform for economic growth, innovation, and free expression. That proposal is designed to foster precisely the kind of continued private investment you emphasized and it does not call for the reclassification of broadband. Instead, the proposal relies on the existing legal framework that you commended in your letter.

I look forward to a continuing dialogue about how best to improve our 21st Century communications networks.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to be "J. Genachowski", is written over the printed name. The signature is stylized with a large, sweeping initial "J" and a long horizontal stroke.

Julius Genachowski

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

December 15, 2010

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

The Honorable Henry Cuellar
U.S. House of Representatives
336 Cannon House Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Congressman Cuellar:

Earlier this year, you expressed "serious concerns" about the impact that reclassifying broadband as a Title II telecommunications service might have on private investment and jobs. I very much appreciate hearing your views on this issue and I strongly share your commitment to bringing better broadband to all Americans. As you may have seen earlier this month, I circulated a proposal for high-level rules of the road to preserve the open Internet that has served so well as a platform for economic growth, innovation, and free expression. That proposal is designed to foster precisely the kind of continued private investment you emphasized and it does not call for the reclassification of broadband. Instead, the proposal relies on the existing legal framework that you commended in your letter.

I look forward to a continuing dialogue about how best to improve our 21st Century communications networks.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to be "J. Genachowski", is written over the printed name.

Julius Genachowski

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

December 15, 2010

The Honorable Elijah E. Cummings
U.S. House of Representatives
2235 Rayburn House Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Congressman Cummings:

Earlier this year, you expressed "serious concerns" about the impact that reclassifying broadband as a Title II telecommunications service might have on private investment and jobs. I very much appreciate hearing your views on this issue and I strongly share your commitment to bringing better broadband to all Americans. As you may have seen earlier this month, I circulated a proposal for high-level rules of the road to preserve the open Internet that has served so well as a platform for economic growth, innovation, and free expression. That proposal is designed to foster precisely the kind of continued private investment you emphasized and it does not call for the reclassification of broadband. Instead, the proposal relies on the existing legal framework that you commended in your letter.

I look forward to a continuing dialogue about how best to improve our 21st Century communications networks.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, consisting of a stylized 'J' followed by a horizontal line and a small dot.

Julius Genachowski

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

December 15, 2010

The Honorable Kathy Dahlkemper
U.S. House of Representatives
516 Cannon House Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Congresswoman Dahlkemper:

Earlier this year, you expressed "serious concerns" about the impact that reclassifying broadband as a Title II telecommunications service might have on private investment and jobs. I very much appreciate hearing your views on this issue and I strongly share your commitment to bringing better broadband to all Americans. As you may have seen earlier this month, I circulated a proposal for high-level rules of the road to preserve the open Internet that has served so well as a platform for economic growth, innovation, and free expression. That proposal is designed to foster precisely the kind of continued private investment you emphasized and it does not call for the reclassification of broadband. Instead, the proposal relies on the existing legal framework that you commended in your letter.

I look forward to a continuing dialogue about how best to improve our 21st Century communications networks.

Sincerely,

Julius Genachowski

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

December 15, 2010

The Honorable Lincoln Davis
U.S. House of Representatives
410 Cannon House Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Congressman Davis:

Earlier this year, you expressed "serious concerns" about the impact that reclassifying broadband as a Title II telecommunications service might have on private investment and jobs. I very much appreciate hearing your views on this issue and I strongly share your commitment to bringing better broadband to all Americans. As you may have seen earlier this month, I circulated a proposal for high-level rules of the road to preserve the open Internet that has served so well as a platform for economic growth, innovation, and free expression. That proposal is designed to foster precisely the kind of continued private investment you emphasized and it does not call for the reclassification of broadband. Instead, the proposal relies on the existing legal framework that you commended in your letter.

I look forward to a continuing dialogue about how best to improve our 21st Century communications networks.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to be "JG", is written over the name Julius Genachowski.

Julius Genachowski

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

December 15, 2010

The Honorable Steve Driehaus
U.S. House of Representatives
408 Cannon House Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Congressman Driehaus:

Earlier this year, you expressed "serious concerns" about the impact that reclassifying broadband as a Title II telecommunications service might have on private investment and jobs. I very much appreciate hearing your views on this issue and I strongly share your commitment to bringing better broadband to all Americans. As you may have seen earlier this month, I circulated a proposal for high-level rules of the road to preserve the open Internet that has served so well as a platform for economic growth, innovation, and free expression. That proposal is designed to foster precisely the kind of continued private investment you emphasized and it does not call for the reclassification of broadband. Instead, the proposal relies on the existing legal framework that you commended in your letter.

I look forward to a continuing dialogue about how best to improve our 21st Century communications networks.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to be "J. Genachowski", is written over the printed name. The signature is stylized with a large, sweeping initial "J" and a long horizontal stroke.

Julius Genachowski

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

December 15, 2010

The Honorable Chaka Fattah
U.S. House of Representatives
2301 Rayburn House Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Congressman Fattah:

Earlier this year, you expressed "serious concerns" about the impact that reclassifying broadband as a Title II telecommunications service might have on private investment and jobs. I very much appreciate hearing your views on this issue and I strongly share your commitment to bringing better broadband to all Americans. As you may have seen earlier this month, I circulated a proposal for high-level rules of the road to preserve the open Internet that has served so well as a platform for economic growth, innovation, and free expression. That proposal is designed to foster precisely the kind of continued private investment you emphasized and it does not call for the reclassification of broadband. Instead, the proposal relies on the existing legal framework that you commended in your letter.

I look forward to a continuing dialogue about how best to improve our 21st Century communications networks.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read "J. Genachowski", is written over the typed name.

Julius Genachowski

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

December 15, 2010

The Honorable Marcia L. Fudge
U.S. House of Representatives
1513 Longworth House Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Congresswoman Fudge:

Earlier this year, you expressed "serious concerns" about the impact that reclassifying broadband as a Title II telecommunications service might have on private investment and jobs. I very much appreciate hearing your views on this issue and I strongly share your commitment to bringing better broadband to all Americans. As you may have seen earlier this month, I circulated a proposal for high-level rules of the road to preserve the open Internet that has served so well as a platform for economic growth, innovation, and free expression. That proposal is designed to foster precisely the kind of continued private investment you emphasized and it does not call for the reclassification of broadband. Instead, the proposal relies on the existing legal framework that you commended in your letter.

I look forward to a continuing dialogue about how best to improve our 21st Century communications networks.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to be "J. Genachowski", is written over the typed name.

Julius Genachowski

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

December 15, 2010

The Honorable Gabrielle Giffords
U.S. House of Representatives
1728 Longworth House Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Congresswoman Giffords:

Earlier this year, you expressed "serious concerns" about the impact that reclassifying broadband as a Title II telecommunications service might have on private investment and jobs. I very much appreciate hearing your views on this issue and I strongly share your commitment to bringing better broadband to all Americans. As you may have seen earlier this month, I circulated a proposal for high-level rules of the road to preserve the open Internet that has served so well as a platform for economic growth, innovation, and free expression. That proposal is designed to foster precisely the kind of continued private investment you emphasized and it does not call for the reclassification of broadband. Instead, the proposal relies on the existing legal framework that you commended in your letter.

I look forward to a continuing dialogue about how best to improve our 21st Century communications networks.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to be "J. Genachowski", is written over the printed name. The signature is stylized with a large, sweeping initial "J" and a long horizontal stroke.

Julius Genachowski

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
WASHINGTON

OFFICE OF
THE CHAIRMAN

December 15, 2010

The Honorable Charles A. Gonzalez
U.S. House of Representatives
303 Cannon House Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Congressman Gonzalez:

Earlier this year, you expressed "serious concerns" about the impact that reclassifying broadband as a Title II telecommunications service might have on private investment and jobs. I very much appreciate hearing your views on this issue and I strongly share your commitment to bringing better broadband to all Americans. As you may have seen earlier this month, I circulated a proposal for high-level rules of the road to preserve the open Internet that has served so well as a platform for economic growth, innovation, and free expression. That proposal is designed to foster precisely the kind of continued private investment you emphasized and it does not call for the reclassification of broadband. Instead, the proposal relies on the existing legal framework that you commended in your letter.

I look forward to a continuing dialogue about how best to improve our 21st Century communications networks.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, consisting of a stylized 'J' followed by a horizontal line and a small dot.

Julius Genachowski